“ I work at Kenney and have known Arlene for 12 years. While we weren't friends outside of the office and we worked in different departments on different floors, our roles did see us interact on a weekly basis.

I think Sally's sentiments are so lovely and so true. I had such respect and admiration for Arlene. She was a strong, dedicated, hardworking person. Arlene also had more energy than someone half her age. She took great pride in her role and believed in the importance of process and procedures. She didn't let anyone off the hook.

Although she may have been a force to be reckoned with at times, it was easy to divert her attention with some small talk and pleasantries. Then, her whole demeanor just softened. She was truly a warm and caring person, and I enjoyed working with her.

I am still amazed at how well she carried on despite her health issues. It breaks my heart that with all her strength and determination, she couldn't win this fight.

My deepest condolences to Arlene's family and friends.
