

Donald J. Lepore

November 29, 2019

Lepore, Donald J. (78) of Cranston, RI passed away Friday evening November 29th, 2019. Born in Cranston, he was the son of the late Angelo Lepore and Mary (Mollo) Lepore.

Donald served in the Marine Corp Reserves and received an Honorable Discharge. He had his own carpet installing business and became a master of the field. When he wasn't working, his favorite pass time was playing tennis (which was his passion), spending time with his children, and watching western movies.

He was a funny man, always reminiscing about his younger years growing up with his friends and all the different things he did in his life as if it were clips from his favorite movies. He would tell stories of when he was in the marines and all the crazy things he did while he was serving. It was like watching the movie "Stripes". We'll never forget his favorite quote every time he would walk through our door. He would say "Here I am you lucky people" and all we can say about that is yes, we were very lucky as we were blessed to have him in our lives.

He was loved by everyone who came in contact with him, inspired by his intellect and stories. He was a strong minded and independent man. His positive and motivative personality was a significant benefit to the people in his life. He is in a better place now and that makes us feel comforted that god is watching over him. He will always be loved and will be sadly missed.

He is survived by his three children; David Lepore, Lori Lepore and Stephanie Lepore; his four grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Services are private.

“ I knew the family back in the 1950's and was a class mate of Donald's brother Robert Lepore. When I use to visit the lepore home. Donald was very comical and made us all laugh. Donald will be missed by all who knew him. May he have eternal peace in heaaven

“ This man did more for me than my own father. Donald taught me a trade that without a doubt kept me off the streets, off of drugs and inevitability from going to jail for my entire young life until I was smart enough to get an education. I will never forget our morning breakfasts and lunch time while we joked about the customers. My nickname was "Zero" We would go into some old ladys house and Donald would light up like dom deluise and start his shtick, hello Mrs. Smith, this is my assistant Zero. "Zero, would like a glass of water?" she would ask straight faced.... All day she calls me Zero...we laughed and laughed and laughed.....

“ I will never forget the hours and hours we spent together cracking each other up with our Brando, DeNiro, Eastwood, Nicholson impersonations. We never took anything that seriously, and life always seemed worth living when I was around Donald, my cousin. I will miss him dearly.
